Here's Karl...

Karl served twenty-five years in the world's largest failure warehouse, the Texas prison system. This life-changing experience taught him the secrets to Keep Dropouts In™. Because eighty plus percent of inmates in prison are school dropouts, Karl learned firsthand what not to "do" and what to "do" to make a life work.

Karl wasn't an inmate. He was an educator who learned much more than he taught. Just imagine, working with human beings who had failed in virtually every aspect of life... Most of these failures had their roots in failures and disappointments experienced in school.

In his twenty-five year prison experience, Karl served as a teacher, counselor, supervisor and administrator. His greatest joy was in the development of success-based curriculum and teacher training.

Karl is the author of five books on life and education. He has written and produced video and CD presentations on manners, character development, self-talk, listening skills, and self-esteem. He is presently writing a book entitled... "I Teach. I Touch."
